Pleasant & Unpleasant

Halal Perfume

My pleasant scent is this perfume which has a very sweet, lingering smell. It is a halal perfume and its scent reminds me of being in the mosque and feeling very serene, safe and calm.

Dettol

My unpleasant scent is this dettol hand sanitizer. What irks me is the goey icy feeling it has which brings me back to the primary school days where alot of nonsensical troubles acure and somehow i associate this with that.

Unpleasant - Goey, sharp, in your face droops down mimicing the slimy, disgusting texture and sound of the dettol. Surface also becomes translucent to opaque.

burnt glue to make it even more disgusting mood from remembering the dettol.

tight, sharp curls mimic the icy feeling after applying dettol. Smaller voids created.

smooth, clean curls wrapping around representing how the calm lingers and overpowers the other. Bigger voids are created from this scent.

clean strips slowly merging together, then flowing into the other contrasting side.

Pleasant - Calming, lingering, silky

Process

Materials used:

Plastic bottle, White glue, Heat blower

1

I cut the plastic bottles into smaller parts to refrain myself to keeping the bottle shape. For the unpleasant, i cut strips out to place on the already melted plastic part.

2

For an extra disgust, I experimented and poured white glue over.

3

Using the heat blower, I further melted it. I also controlled, and blow only the edges to achieve the tight twisting sharp curls.

Repeating the process until the desired outcome is achieved.

As for the pleasant scent, I just cut strips to surround it overall and.
