

“They were reeling in from what just happened when....”

Logline:

Two brothers takes notice of their younger sister showing interest in one of the neighbourhood gang members and their growing suspicion leads them to discover something unusual about his behaviour towards her.

Story Pitch: This story is set in the modern contemporary time. The two brothers are in their mid 20s and early 30s and the last born sister in early 20s. The older one, Riyadh is bossy and domineering one. The younger one, Raul, is the timid and smart one. The last born sister, Marjane is a sassy, spoilt brat but has a charming nature that is liked by many. Only within the young male community, are brothers , cousins and fathers aware of their neighbour gang members, and this heightens their concern over the safety of their own female members of the family . Knowing Marjane’s naïve nature, brothers take on their duty to look out for her safety, as she develops a liking for one of the gang members.

Storyline:

Two brothers were at a wedding and discovered some of the neighbourhood gang members were present. As they watched him from a far, they start to grow suspicious when their younger sister shows interest in one of the gang members, who is the lead gang member. The couple left the building, and with brothers growing concern over the little one and, they decided to trail his car closely to keep a look out on them.

As they trailed the white Audi car from the back, the older one notices the gang member looking at the rear view mirror, his eyes looking straight at him. Riyadh’s heart skipped a beat as he assumes the worst out of the guy. The car starts to speed up and so did theirs. Riyadh orders Raul to take a picture of the car plate, but he couldn’t because his car is almost dead. Riyadh tosses a paper and pen at him and Raul, timidly jots it down before they were too far to read off the plate number.

During the ride at the expressway, Riyadh’s car starts to slow down and gas blinker started to make a sound. Even with Riyadh’s phone dying out, he made an attempt to use his phone to track Marjane’s location. Marjane’s location was last seen near their place where they lived. After that, his phone died. With the car down, phones dead, and both standing alone by the roadside at evening time, there were rarely any cars coming, made Riyadh grew even more frustrated. A car stopped over and out came a couple of guys, who happened to be the other members of the gang. They gave both brothers a good beating until the older one fights back and explains himself why he was following the leader’s car. The brothers were taken into the car, and The brothers explained their concerns over the younger sister’s safety to them, and this convinced the members to be on their side. The car sped off and they headed to the gang leader’s place.