NOTE TO TEACHERS & PARENTS

The way adults respond to the knowledge of children's being sexually abused is vital to ensuring the child's safety.

Here are a few pointers on how to react upon knowing.

FACE THE PROBLEM

When the abuse is known, adults must face the problem, protect the child at all costs.

RESPOND WITH CARE & URGENCY

If you think a child is trying to tell you about a sexually abusive situation, respond promptly and with care.

BELIEVE THE CHILD

It takes tremendous courage to talk about abuse. Believe it when the child says it.

STAY CALM

If they are talking to you about it, don't get upset. Stay calm and steady. If you get upset the child may think you are going to punish them.

BE SUPPORTIVE

It is important that they feel supported. Don't dismiss their claims or put them off talking about it.

DON'T KEEP
A SECRET,
SAY IT!!

Three quarters of children who are sexually abused do not tell anyone about it and many keep their secret all their lives. The offenders could be anyone.
