Mnemosyne's Scent

childhood memories`
Good Scent

Bringing me back to a reminiscent time of my childhood, the familiar soothing scent of haw flakes brings me warmth and comfort. The sweet yet savoury flavours that fill my tastebuds fades away slowly as I place another slice in my mouth.

Good Scent

The smooth shiny plastic surface portrays the haw flakes comforting scent while its natural inward curls convey the warmth that it brings me; just like the feeling of a blanket wrapped over me

horrid experience`
Bad Scent

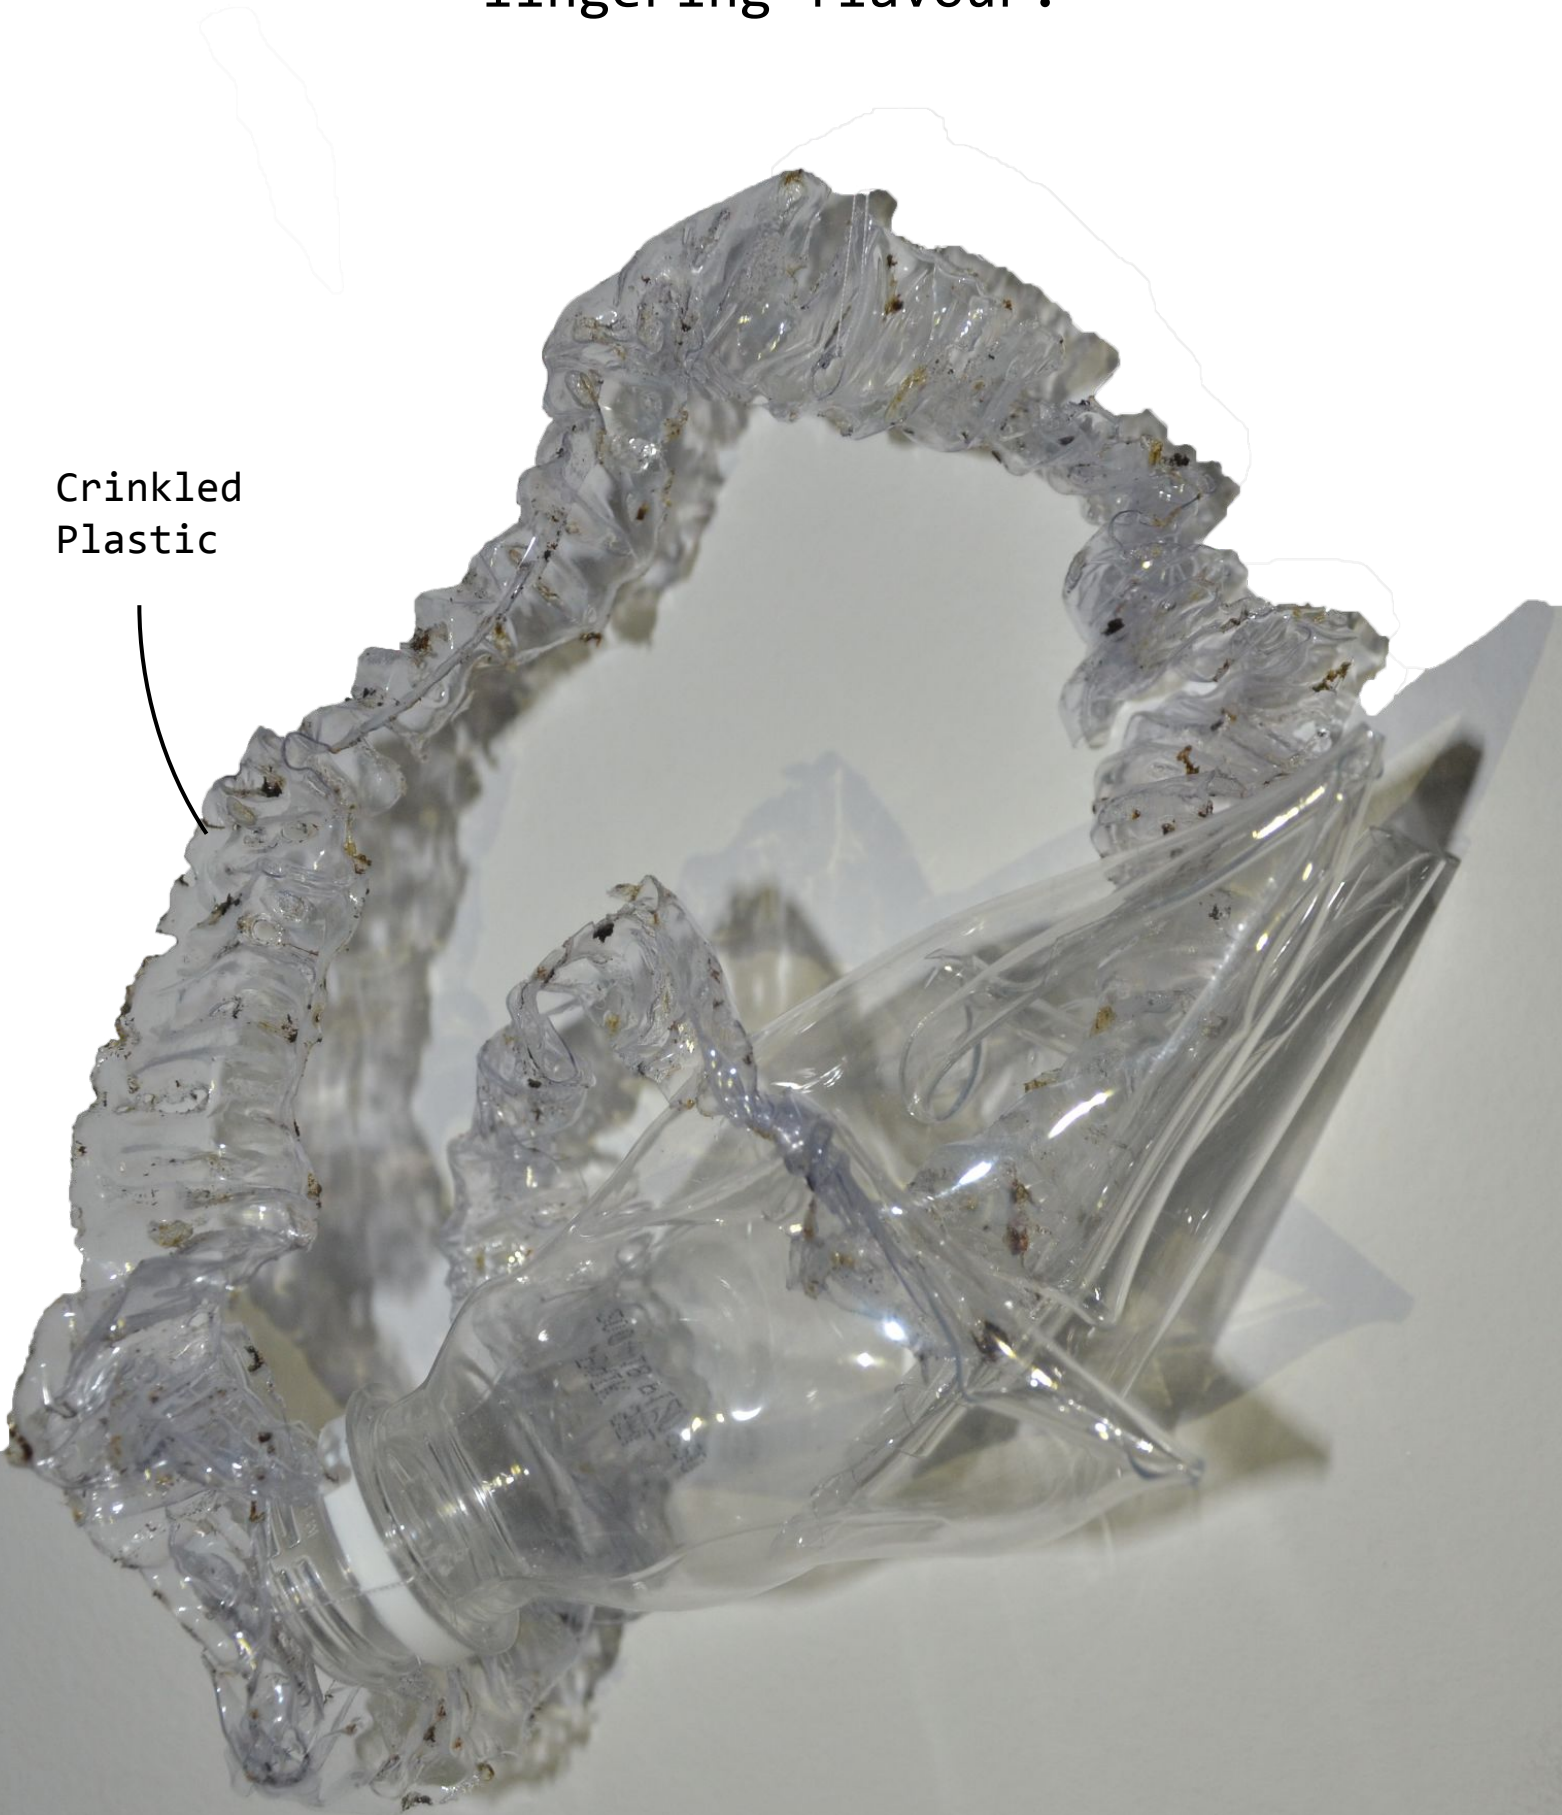

Forced to finish a plate of celery in my secondary one school trip, the memories of overpowering bitterness engulf my tastebuds. The lingering flavour and scent makes me cringe as i take another bite unwillingly.

While the crinkled plastic mirrors my cringing actions when in close proximity with celereries, the burnt spots convey its lingering flavour.

Intertwining within each other, my final plastic sculpture represents each scent's contrasting personalities. Its complexity is also reflected in the shadows they cast.
