

Gameplay instruction

This card game allows for up to 4 people. It consists of 52 character cards and 18 power cards.

GAME RULES

Shuffle all the cards and all players are issued with six cards each.

Each player discards card(s) to the central discarding pile during each of their turn. The character cards can only be discarded when the idiom consists of the word on the character card.

FUNCTIONS OF POWER CARD

One more time

Gets to discard another round of card(s) within the same turn before moving on to the next player; may be used together with the character cards.

Swap a playing card

Swaps a card with another player; cannot be used together with the character cards.

Skip a person

Skips the next person's turn; may be used together with the character cards.

Skip a person

Sequence of turn reverses; may be used together with the character cards.

Wild card

Replaces any word that the player wishes, may or may not be a character from the characters card. May be used together with the character cards.

Draw a card

Player gets to appoint any players to draw an extra card from the deck, may be used together with the character cards.

Draw two cards

Player gets to appoint any players to draw two extra cards from the deck, may be used together with the character cards.

For example:

Player discards 天 and 开, while saying "异想天开". This idiom consists of both words on the character cards, hence this is valid.

If player holds 4 character cards that make up one idiom, player may discard all 4 cards in same turn. Player may choose to discard 1 to 4 characters cards in a turn, the words need to correspond with the words in the idiom.

From the second turn onwards, each player draws a card from the card deck before discarding cards into the central discarding pile. If player does not know idioms that consists of the cards he/she holds, player may choose to skip that turn after drawing the card for that turn.

First player to clear all the cards on hand will win. The game will continue until all players have cleared all their cards on hand. The last card on hand to be discarded by each player must be a character card.
