

Sustainable Food Supply

Catering Area

“Current human diet is beyond planetary boundaries, while causing ill health”

Influencing the habits of eating is a gradual one, a result of constant encouragement. In this installation, the aim is to communicate the research and idea that one's own meal decisions will effect the people and our surroundings as a whole.

Eating Area

Depends on the meat to vege ratio on an individual's plate, the temperature in the room will rise or drop. The light in the room will shift from warm to cool as a result.